

Online Service Opportunities and Resources

There is no better time than now to immerse yourself in some form of service. There are many local variations – ranging from reading to children at your local library (or setting up a program to do so online) to volunteering with local recreation and conservation groups to helping fight food insecurity by volunteering at a soup kitchen, food pantry, community garden, or growing your own produce and donating it.

Here are two options to help identify opportunities if you need more ideas:

- VolunTEEN Nation
- VolunteerMatch

And here are some resources for remote community service:

- AMIGOS Community Impact Project
- Ideas to Act for the Common Good During Coronavirus Crisis
- Tutor Children Virtually With TeensGive
- Peers and Students Taking Action
- Ancestry.com's World Archives Program \(AWAP\)
- Smithsonian Digital Volunteer
- Be My Eyes
- Learning Ally
- DoSomething.org
- The Zooniverse

Source: College Matchpoint